Summary

I am currently attending the Herron School of Art and Design at Indiana University Indianapolis, obtaining a BFA in Integrative Studio Practice, as well as three minors in liberal arts. I have worked as a member of my university's orientation team, as well as a mentor to freshmen students. I have volunteered for several school events as an ambassador to prospective students, as well as the vice president of my school's student council. I have design, illustration, and fine art skills that can be applied and used in a variety of situations that involve critical thinking and design for production. I am looking forward to using these skills in any work environment that I am employed in.

Hobbies & Interests

I have an interest in researching fine art and going to museums. I have an ongoing collection of model trains. Whenever I can, I travel to see new places and experience different cultures. Believing that it makes me a more open-minded person. I also practice making fine art and illustration via oil painting, finding that it makes myself a more creative person.
